Allison,

My comments/edits are attached as both a marked-up document and as a clean version. My goal was to simplify the existing set of comments and word them more professionally. There was one comment of Jayne's I did not agree with (see my 2nd comment). The only thing I did not resolve (for the sake of expediency) was Jayne's footnote, which I think is a bit odd, but am ultimately ambivalent about.

Yes. But I need a few more hours. I just spoke with my boss to skip a couple meetings this morning & midday, so my calendar is now cleared for this priority. My Thursday & Friday were consumed with fire drills. I apologize.

Subject: Comments on OR TMDL Impl Plan Guidance

Don/Jayne--

I took advantage of the quieter week around the 4th to review OR's Final Draft of TMDL Implementation Plan Guidance for Urban DMAs. My comments are attached. Overall, while the guidance has some good language related to the new devel MM, I also found it very confusing and contradictory about what exactly are and are not required elements of an Implementation Plan. Also, I'm a bit disconcerted that this is the "final draft" given the apparently conflicting language and overall improvements that should be made to improve clarity and organization, remove redundancies, and correct typos, etc. throughout. Seems like this should go through one more good round of edits before becoming a final draft. I'm interested in your thoughts. I know DEQ is requesting comments by Monday July 23rd. It may be good for the fed partners to get together to discuss our joint comments ahead of time if needed. I'd be happy to set up a call the week of the 16th if you can let me know what days/times would work best for you.

Cheers,
Allison
